

No Special Bonus Session: Stratton

Says Proposal by Commission is Unsatisfactory

Governor Holds Out Possibility of Action Next Session

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton Thursday killed the possibility of a state bonus this year for Illinois Korean War veterans.

But the governor held out the chance that a bonus plan may win approval at the next session of the Legislature which meets in January.

Stratton announced he would not call a special session of the Legislature to place a bonus plan on the November ballot because a bonus proposal submitted to him by a special bonus commission was unsatisfactory.

Stratton said the commission's proposal "does not meet the conditions originally set out in my meeting with representatives of the commission as a basis for calling a special session of the Legislature."

"However," Stratton said, "I commend the Commission for their earnest efforts and feel that they have progressed toward an improved program which can be submitted next January at the regular session of the Legislature with increased chances of being acceptable to the people."

The bonus plan submitted to the governor by the commission was believed unacceptable to Stratton on a number of points.

Its cost was estimated at between 70 and 75 million dollars, while Stratton set the limit he would be willing to spend at 65 million dollars.

The commission's plan would have been financed with income from the state utility tax in the general revenue fund. Stratton had insisted that no bonus money could be taken from general revenue.

Also the governor had specified that the commission must reach unanimous agreement on a plan. The commission members all agreed that a bonus should be paid, but there was at least one dissenting vote on the method of financing the plan and other details of the commission proposal.

The commission proposal called for a $10 per month payment for each month served in the armed forces between June 27, 1950, and July 27, 1953; an additional flat sum of $100 for those who served in the combat area and won the Korean service ribbon; and a $1,000 payment to beneficiaries of persons killed in service during the Korean War.

State Sen. Paul W. Broyles (R-Mount Vernon) was chairman of the commission which recommended the bonus plan.

The Republican state convention pledged in its platform to place a Korean bonus proposal before the voters "at the earliest possible" date.

Police Chief Reminds Drive Begins Monday to Collect City Licenses

Police Chief Ross Lane reminded Harrisburg residents today that a drive would be started Monday, July 16, to collect all unpaid city licenses.

The city clerk's office will remain open until noon Saturday for those wishing to purchase licenses.

Employment in Illinois Shows Increase

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The State Labor Department today announced about 3,464,900 non-farm workers were employed in Illinois during the month ended June 15.

The department said the mid-June estimate was up by about 27,000 workers from the previous month, partly because of seasonal increases in non-manufacturing employment.

Japanese Weather Expert Warns Fallout Spreads from Bikini Toward Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese government weather expert warned today that the accumulated fallout from the current series of U. S. nuclear weapons tests in the Eniwetok-Bikini proving grounds is spreading westward toward Japan.

Hiroshi Ito of the central weather observatory said scientists estimated the fallout already extends "several hundred" miles beyond the danger area established in the Pacific by the United States.

Japanese ships and fishermen in the threatened area will be warned, Ito said.

"We have no material to judge the density of the fallout and therefore the extent of the danger to humans," he said. "But we want to warn shipping and fishermen because the area of the fallout is certain to spread."

The Japanese fishing boat Fortunate Dragon was dusted with the "hot" fallout of a U. S. H-bomb explosion in 1954.

Ito said there has been a "marked spreading" of the fallout from recent tests at short intervals. He said Japanese scientists have recorded eight blasts since the current tests began in May. The United States has announced only two.

Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu told a Diet committee Thursday that Japan has asked the United States for information on the Japanese reported nuclear explosions. He said Washington was asked whether a nuclear bomb was exploded in the Pacific testing grounds without notifying Japan.

L&N Asks to Move Agency from 'Old' To 'New' Shawneetown

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission today reported the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co. has requested authority to move its agency from "Old" Shawneetown to "New" Shawneetown.

The Ohio River communities voted to go their separate ways in a recent election. The new community has been built a short distance from the old city, which has been hard hit by floods over the years.

Ray J. Hawkins, 65, Dies; Funeral Sunday at 2 p. m.

Ray J. Hawkins, 65, died at 8 p. m. yesterday in the Pearce hospital in Eldorado where he had been a patient for one week.

He had been in poor health for several years and bedfast the past three years, having resided that length of time at the Eldorado nursing home.

Mr. Hawkins was a tinner by trade and had worked in Saline county practically all of his life. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Phyllis Wible, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Blanch Summers of Harrisburg; one son, Ray Jr., Peoria, and two brothers, John Hawkins, Watova, Okla., and Hubert Hawkins of Harrisburg. His brothers are the only two left in a family of nine children.

The body will lie in state in the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home where the funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. Rev. Glen Daugherty will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

Independence to Vote On Proposal to Increase Road and Bridge Tax

An election will be held in Independence township Tuesday, July 24 on a proposal to increase the road and bridge tax rate to 33 percent. It has been announced.

The present road and bridge rate is .165 in Independence Township.

Disc Jockey Charged with Murdering Wife

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police charged disc jockey Wally Dickson with the murder of his wife Thursday, partially on the basis of evidence supplied by the suspect's five-year-old son.

Jeffrey Dickson told detectives his father was home when he heard two shots fired the night his mother, Nancy, 26, was bludgeoned and then shot in the chest and forehead.

The balding radio performer, 30, who sobbed hysterically at his wife's coffin Thursday, was taken into custody by Allegheny County Coroner William D. McClelland and held without bond for murder pending an inquest.

Mrs. Dickson's pajama-clad body was found in their apartment above a garage in nearby Edgewood, Pa., early Tuesday morning. A .22 caliber rifle belonging to Dickson lay partly under her body.

Dickson told police he discovered the body after a "night out boozing" with two companions.

The popular week end disc jockey for radio station WJAS has denied killing his wife. He viewed her body Thursday at the Cooke Funeral Home, dropping to his knees and weeping uncontrollably as two sheriff's deputies stood at his side.

On the coffin was a fresh bouquet of pink "sweet heart roses," sent at Dickson's request. He remained at the funeral home for 90 minutes and was then turned over to coroner's deputies when formal charges were lodged.

Burial services for Mrs. Dickson will be held Saturday.

Dixon-Yates Pact Held Invalid by Justice Dep't

Action Seized by Democrats as Ripe Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats today seized as a ripe campaign issue administration arguments in Federal Court that the Dixon-Yates contract was invalid.

The Justice Department filed a brief Thursday in the U. S. Court of Claims saying the Dixon-Yates private power contract was invalid because of a conflict of interest involving New York banker Adolph H. Wenzell.

The Dixon-Yates power combine is suing the government for $3,534,778.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), a leading foe of the Dixon-Yates contract, strongly intimated the government brief will become an important Democratic campaign weapon. He said that as much as any other government project the Dixon-Yates contract had the personal endorsement of President Eisenhower.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who headed a Senate investigation of the contract, said his committee brought out Wenzell's dual role and other faults in the contract "over violent opposition of the administration from the White House down."

Anderson Praised Dept. Action
"It is gratifying," the presidential candidate said in a prepared statement, to find that the Justice Department "has reversed its previous position . . . and will now give the government these defenses."

He said he hopes the case will be brought to trial "expeditiously—prior to this fall's elections."

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, praised the Justice Department for finding that the government has no liability for the contract. He recalled he had made this point after the President cancelled it.

The Justice Department brief said Wenzell's role in negotiating the contract "involved a conflict of interest so contrary to public policy" as to make the agreement "null and void."

The contract, originally signed by the government in 1954, was cancelled last year by President Eisenhower. The government raised the possibility at the time that a conflict of interest was involved.

Arensmans Open New Shoe Store At Mount Vernon

Announcement is being made today of the opening of a new shoe store in Mt. Vernon Thursday, July 5, by Mr. and Mrs. James Arensman of Harrisburg.

The store, located on the east side of the square in Mt. Vernon, will be known as "Arensmans' Shoes, Inc."

For the past 17 years the Arensmans have operated a leased department in the Mammoth department store in Mt. Vernon and this stock of shoes was moved to the new location and the operation greatly enlarged.

The store will feature Town and Country and Trim Tred shoes for women, Rand shoes for men and Poll Parrott and Scamparoo shoes for children.

Leo Dace, who has experience in the shoe business in both Centralia and Mt. Vernon, will manage the store, assisted by his wife, Rita.

During the opening summer sale Mr. Arensman is working in Mt. Vernon, but will return to Harrisburg Monday, where he will continue to operate the Arensman shoe store on the east side of the square.

A grand opening of the Mt. Vernon store will be held in August.

Dies at Rosiclare

John Suits, 65, died in the Rosiclare General hospital Thursday at 12:45 a. m.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Central Presbyterian church with Rev. Raymond Rose and Rev. H. S. Smith officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Gracie, five sons and two daughters.

Director Says Hodge Became Stockholder in Reorganized Bank

CHICAGO (AP)—A bank director said today that State Auditor Orville E. Hodge became a stockholder in a suburban Chicago bank which had been reorganized by Hodge's office.

P. Warren Smith of Northfield issued a statement saying he had represented Hodge's interests and became a director in the Bank of Elmwood Park, holding bank stock in Hodge's behalf.

Smith said that in 1955 he held 11,165 shares of stock in the bank as nominee for the Hodge Agency Inc., a firm operated by the state auditor in Granite City, Ill. The holdings, estimated at about 40 percent of the bank's total stock, were sold a month ago.

There were these other Chicago developments in the Hodge story:

1. Directors of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., where some of the "questionable" checks issued by Hodge's office were cashed, said they were "confident" there had been "no illegal acts" by its officers.

2. Herbert C. Paschen, Democratic candidate for governor, said Gov. William G. Stratton had been "lax" in not obtaining semiannual financial reports from Hodge required by the Constitution.

3. Donald B. Hatmaker, 51-year-old Chicago lawyer, announced that he will file as an independent candidate for state auditor in the November election. Meanwhile, Republican party leaders kept up a search for an organization candidate to replace Hodge.

The Bank of Elmwood Park succeeded the First State Bank of Elmwood Park, which was one of three banks Hodge's office closed here April 11, 1953, on complaints about some of their banking practices.

The Bank of Elmwood Park opened May 28, 1953, under a reorganization. Former Gov. Dwight Green, now a Chicago lawyer, is chairman of the board in the new management.

Smith said Hodge came to him in January, 1955, and asked that 3,500 shares of bank stock owned by the Hodge Agency be transferred to Smith's name, and that Smith serve as a director of the bank.

Made No Loans
Smith said he was "assured there was nothing improper in the Hodge Agency Inc., owning stock in the bank" and he accepted. He said he became a director shortly afterward.

Smith said he acquired 7,665 more shares of stock at $27 a share for the Hodge Agency last summer. He said the entire Hodge holdings were sold June 15, 1956, to two Chicago real estate firms.

Burglars Enter Hamilton Store
Tate's Grocery, located just north of the Saline county line in Hamilton county, was entered Thursday night, it is reported.

A .38 calibre pistol of foreign make, some shells and a bag containing $8 or $9 in pennies were reported missing.

Sheriff William Barrett reported his office was notified of the burglary and the Saline county officers are working on the case with the officers from Hamilton county.

Woman Sentenced, Then Placed on Probation
Eva Duvall was arraigned in county court Thursday on a child abandonment charge and entered a plea of guilty.

County Judge Trafton Dennis sentenced her to a year at the Women's State Prison at Geneva, then placed her on probation for the one-year period.

Four-Year-Old Boy to Cram Lifetime Of Seeing Into Next Five Days
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Mike Sibole, a handsome 4-year old with big brown eyes and wavy hair, will cram a lifetime of seeing into the next five days.

After that he will be totally blind—the victim of a cancer of the retina.

Little Mike lost his right eye to the malignancy when he was 2 years old and doctors said they will have to remove the remaining eye to save his life.

But the little fellow with the big grin doesn't know it.

All he knows is that he's having a wonderful time now. He's been seeing just about everything there is for a 4-year-old to see and delight in.

He's looking at the tigers and lions and giraffes and elephants and all the animals at Africa, U.S.A., near Miami. He's laughed with pleasure at the antics of sharks and the brilliantly colored fish at the Miami Seaquarium.

He's gone on long rides down roads where the trees are the greenest and the flowers the brightest. He's seen the loving smiles of his mother and father, smiles hiding a sadness he can't understand.

Report 'Half Drawer Full' Of Checks Found

Five Women Employees Subpoenaed for Grand Jury Hearing

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A battery of four investigators from the Sangamon County state's attorney's office today conducted a wholesale interrogation of employees in the office of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

Asst. State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman Jr., meanwhile, reported a new clue had led him to a "half drawer full" of state checks reported missing earlier from the auditor's files.

State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon, Ackerman, Coutrakon's brother, Basil, also an attorney, and Richard Husted, arrived at the auditor's office this morning to question employees.

Coutrakon advised Hodge earlier this week that if he could not get answers he wanted from Hodge he would question everyone in the auditor's office "if it takes me from now until Christmas."

Ackerman said he had found the missing half drawer of checks in files in the State Archives Building where microfilmed copies of checks are kept. He said there was no explanation of why the missing checks were in the microfilm department.

The investigator said the half drawer did not contain any of 41 checks involved in alleged irregularities in Hodge's office. He said "we will keep looking" for these 41 checks.

Meanwhile five women employees of Hodge's office who were questioned by Coutrakon and Ackerman said they had been subpoenaed for grand jury appearances July 23. Duties of all of the five include processing or mailing of state checks.

The five were Dorothy Coffman, Dorothy Grissman, Betty White, Lois Evans and Cleo English.

Ackerman told reporters investigation indicated that Edward A. Epping, described as Hodge's office manager, was the "key figure" in the alleged cashing of questionable state checks. However he said, "there apparently is nothing in writing" to indicate that Epping authorized any of the questionable checks.

Ackerman also disclosed that a crew of eight persons which kept the auditor's file of cancelled state checks, was transferred to other duties shortly before the alleged irregularities came to light.

The disclosures came along with these developments in the investigation of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge's office:

Hodge indicated he would fight to hold onto his office and would produce early next week an additional $50,000 surety bond required by Gov. William G. Stratton on threat of ousting Hodge from office.

There were reports that Stratton might call a special session of the Legislature to impeach Hodge, but the governor said he had no such plans. He said it would be "very expensive" and could "drag out like a court trial."

Hodge was subpoenaed for a grand jury appearance July 23, and State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon moved up the start of the grand jury investigation from July 23 to July 16.

Hodge told reporters "I don't know" when he was asked if he will remain a candidate for reelection despite a warning by Stratton that if he does not withdraw, the Republican party will back another candidate as an independent.

Time to Forge Unity

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Management and union negotiators in the steel industry are of course blaming each other for the nationwide strike now in progress and unquestionably they did not start off in a conciliatory mood.

But the country's interest dictates that they nevertheless come to grips quickly on terms of a new steel contract. For a strike which would last as long or longer than the eight-week 1952 stoppage could deal a damaging blow to America's prosperity.

Even a two-week break in production would be felt in the oil and gas, railroad equipment and construction industries. A four-week interruption would put a crimp in most other major steel users. Unemployment would fan out to industries which supply steel users with other materials.

In their hearts both sides in these negotiations know they will have to come to hard, compromising bargaining sooner or later. For the good of themselves and the whole nation, it had better be sooner.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell wisely has declined to inject the government into this dispute beyond freezing certain critical steel supplies to insure continuity of defense production. Federal mediators confer with both sides in hope of breaking the stalemate. But the whole theory of free collective bargaining is undercut when the government becomes a third party to negotiations. Its participation introduces an element of compulsion alien to the spirit of such dealings.

If the bargaining process is as sound as it is supposed to be, then it must be demonstrated again and again in practice. Constant entry of the government into the picture could only support an argument that collective bargaining between management and labor is ineffective.

In this case, contract talks began May 28. More than a month of discussions produced no real moves toward a solution of differences. Neither side got down to brass tacks. It was as if each were waiting until a strike was under way, in hope the added pressure would force the other's hand.

While that is the classic role of the strike in union-management relations, the bargaining procedure is in danger of serious distortion when the negotiating parties cannot bring themselves to really earnest dealing so long as strike pressure is absent.

The industry, the steel workers and the entire U. S. economy will suffer if this strike runs long. This should be apparent even to the most stubborn bargainer at the steel contract table.

Let both sides negotiate hard and long now in the spirit which ought to have motivated their talks in the 30 days before the strike—but did not. The nation, in critical mood, will be waiting impatiently for results.

Miss Dorothy Fulkerson, Harry Charles Boyd Wed in Double Ring Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Charles Boyd

At a lovely afternoon wedding June 17, Miss Dorothy Fulkerson became the bride of Harry Charles Boyd. Miss Fulkerson is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Grover Fulkerson and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Joe Shoemaker.

Tall pink tapers illuminated the First Baptist church where the marriage was solemnized. The altar was decorated with standards of white gladioli and majestic daisies, and an arch entwined with emerald and jade greenery.

The Rev. Donald Boyd, brother of the bridegroom, officiated at the presence of the two families and a large group of relatives and friends.

Miss Nancy Ann Fulkerson, niece of the bride, played a prelude of wedding music and accompanied Richard Norris, nephew of the bride, who sang "Because." "Walk Hand In Hand" and as a benediction "The Wedding Prayer." Miss Fulkerson also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother-in-law, William Merrow, was beautifully gowned in white Alencon lace over pink tulle. The dress was designed with a tight fitting bodice and flared into deep lace ruffles to a lovely waltz length. The skirt was extended by a hoop over layers of pink tulle. Matching lace mitts and a circular finger-tip veil, head secure by a tiara of iridescent beads and seed pearls completed the bride's outfit.

McKinley Avenue T. E. L. Sunday School Class Holds Regular Meeting

The T. E. L. Sunday school class of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph Burroughs.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. John Denny, Mrs. George Langford presided over the meeting. The group sang "Send the Light" followed with prayer by Mrs. Amy Reynolds, a visitor.

It was voted to buy the window in the class room at the church and a picnic was planned for the August meeting.

Mrs. Paul Hilliard gave an interesting devotion on "International Brotherhood" taking her scripture from Luke and Micah. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Herbert Clark.

John Burroughs entertained the group by showing slides taken while he was in Korea and of a vacation trip out West.

Mrs. Burroughs was assisted by Mrs. E. D. Gidcomb in serving ice cream sodas and cookies.

Present were Mrs. Levi Chitty, Mrs. Herbert Clark, Mrs. Ruth Morse, Mrs. Eva Rodgers, Mrs. Earl Hicks, Mrs. George Langford, Mrs. Paul Hilliard, Mrs. R. C. McElmerry, Mrs. Amy Reynolds and Mrs. E. D. Gidcomb.

Evergreen Garden Club Has Family Picnic At B. E. Hart Country Home

The Evergreen Garden club had a family picnic at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hart on Route 34 Tuesday at 6 p. m.

Host and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Horning, Dr. and Mrs. Frank P. Skaggs, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stricklin and Mrs. George Hensley.

Twenty-five members and their families enjoyed a large variety of food served from a main table which was decorated with a large bouquet of Queen Anne's lace tinted in colors of pink, blue, yellow and green. The arrangement was by Mrs. Troy Hart.

Card tables and chairs were arranged on the spacious lawn and the guests enjoyed eating and visiting during the evening.

Two guests were present: Mrs. Nolen Craver, Homer, Ill., who was a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Polk, and Bob Smith of Riverside, a guest of his cousin, Sonny Farrar.

Danny Lee Clayton Has Party on Third Birthday

A party was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clayton in honor of their grandson, Danny Lee Clayton's third birthday.

Games were played and favors of balloons and suckers were given to each boy and girl.

Danny opened his gifts after which refreshments of cake, Kool-Aid, ice cream and cookies were served to Susie Millis, Dana Lynn Sisk, Danny Reams, Debbie Jenkins, Susan Jane Stafford, Carla Rae Reynolds, Gloria Davis and Danny Lee.

Mothers present were Mrs. Loma Sisk, Mrs. Lucy Reynolds, Mrs. Laverne Millis, Mrs. Norma Jenkins, Mrs. Jeanette Clayton, Mrs. Edna Davis, Miss Barbara Elam, Danny's mother, Mrs. Laverne Clayton, and his grandmother, Mrs. Earl Clayton.

George Wilkinson entered the Welborn Memorial hospital in Evansville, Ind., yesterday for rest and observation. His room number is 204. He would like to hear from friends.

A/3C AND MRS. JAMES R. WILSON who were married Thursday, July 5, in Corinth, Miss. The bride is the former Miss Carolyn Williams. (Foster Studio Photo)

Miss Carolyn Williams, A/3C James R. Wilson Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams of Harrisburg are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Carolyn, to A/3C James Robert Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wilson, also of this city.

The double-ring ceremony was performed Thursday, July 5, in Corinth, Miss., by Bernard Sovell, justice of the peace.

For her wedding the bride wore a street length green taffeta dress with white accessories.

Jerry Sanders of Harrisburg was the only attendant.

A wedding shower and charrivari was held July 7 in their honor with Mrs. Lovell Wilson and Mrs. Eugene Wilson as hostesses.

The couple attended the Harrisburg Township high, and they will make their home in Del Rio, Texas, where he is stationed at the Laughlin Air Force Base.

Otto Cox, 2 North Water street, was taken by ambulance from the Harrisburg funeral home Tuesday night to the Veterans hospital in Marion. Mr. Cox is receiving medical treatment and will remain in the hospital for an indefinite time. He is in Room 242 in Ward 2-a.

Mildred Harris of Carrier Mills is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ruth Blackman, at Lakeland, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hicks and son, Melvin, and daughter, Judith Ann, returned Wednesday evening from a two weeks' trip spent touring the West. Outstanding experiences were crossing the Royal Gorge in Estes Park in Colorado and riding to the top of Pike's Peak. Accompanying them on the trip were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray, and little son, Charlie. En route to Colorado they visited with a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hicks, and daughters, Vicki and Charlene, in Crescent, Ia. On their return trip they spent a night in Topeka, Kan., with another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Hicks, and son, Jeff.

Calendar Of Meetings

The Ever Ready class of the First General Baptist church will meet at the home of Rev. and Mrs. John Yuhas Saturday at 7:30 p. m. for the regular class social.

The Liberty Y. W. A. will have a bake sale Saturday beginning at 10 a. m. between Kresge's and Carp's stores.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brinkley, RFD 2, Harrisburg, a boy named Jerry Ray, weighing seven pounds, eight ounces, born July 9 at the Ferrell hospital. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Schriver of Hutsonville, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brinkley of Equality.

To Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilkins, Paducah, Ky., a girl named Laura Jane, weighing nine pounds, two ounces, born July 7. The mother is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Ferrell of Sikeston, Mo., and the father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkins of Harrisburg.

Violent Storms Hit Nation's Midsection

By United Press

Violent summer weather ripped through the nation's midsection Thursday night, bringing reports of possible tornadoes in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Nebraska.

Thunderstorms kicked up dust in the West while drenching sections of Wisconsin and Illinois with heavy showers.

Two persons were injured in a storm which howled through Miami, Okla., damaging 75 houses. The Weather Bureau at first called the storm "a confirmed tornado," but later revised its report, labelling it a storm with straight winds up to 75 miles per hour.

Residents of Culbertson, Neb., spotted funnel-shaped clouds and an unconfirmed tornado was seen between Scott City and Leoti, Kan. Other possible twisters were reported in Minnesota and North Dakota, but apparently caused no damage or injuries.

Warmer air was expected over the western Ohio Valley, while the Pacific Northwest shivered in cool breezes today.

Dulles Defends Globe-Trotting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says that people who claim he spends too much time globe-trotting have old-fashioned ideas about diplomacy.

The 68-year-old secretary has travelled the equivalent of 11 times around the globe in the 3 1/2 years he has been guiding U. S. foreign policy. He has visited 38 countries.

"People wonder why I travel so much," Dulles told the Girls' Nation Thursday. "Everybody's doing it. Khrushchev and Bulganin have been travelling around even more than I have. My record, which some people think is unique, is likely to be challenged."

His reference was to Russian Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, who recently returned home from a visit to England. Earlier they toured the Far East to build up good will for the Soviet Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Keen have returned to Harrisburg from a vacation trip to Daytona Beach and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. In Ft. Lauderdale they visited with Mrs. Keen's aunt, Mrs. Guy Worthington, former Harrisburg resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Beal and sons, Phillip Gene and Bobby Joe, who have been visiting in this city, have returned to Gary, Ind. They visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abel Bowen and family, and her mother, Mrs. Rena Shires and family of Muddy.

Evangelistic campaigns have been conducted by Mr. Smith in all parts of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Old Mexico, Cuba and Europe.

His sermon at 10:40 a. m. at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church will be "Triumph of Calvary."

Yank Bullfighter To Appeal Spanish Sentence to Franco

MADRID, Spain (AP) — American bullfighter Harry Whitney's six-year jail sentence for remarks "defaming" Spain will be appealed to Generalissimo Francisco Franco and the cabinet, his lawyer said today.

The Spanish supreme court Wednesday upheld the sentence of six years and one day imposed on Whitney last month for making harsh remarks against this country after a traffic accident in Madrid in May.

His lawyer, Augustin Barrena, announced he will appeal to Franco through the mails.

Whitney, a native of Austin, Tex., claimed his remarks were made in the heat of anger. He said he meant no harm to Spain, a country which he said he loves and a place where he hopes to stay.

Frank caught up with the herd. They had entered a hard, rough country. The Skull threaded a pinched canyon here, its walls leaving barely room for a trail along one bank. At one spot, a steep canyon wall formed a natural corral, knee-high with bluejoint grass. Here they rested.

Swenson had been watching for him and now struck his dun with his heels and brought the hammer-head beside Frank.

"He won't be bothering us," Frank said indifferently. Then when Swede continued to stare, he added, "No, I didn't kill him."

"Too bad. They'll follow us all the way to McHenry."

Driving by the way of the Skull would take them two days to McHenry. The river, from this point upon which they camped, took a sweeping bow around the Skull badlands. It was a shorter drive through the malpais, but no one rode a horse into that during this season.

Jean stooped over the fire to pour him a cup of coffee. He read the relief in her eyes and knew she had been worrying about him.

Their noon dishes were scoured by sand and river water. After they had been replaced in the wagon Frank climbed to his feet. He hadn't wanted the rest at all and wouldn't have agreed except for the horses. They must not be worn down when they reached the Army corrals at McHenry. He ordered the crew to make sure every animal in the string was led to water and held there until it drank its full.

Beside him Jean's eyes flashed. "I believe you've read my mind. We strike for the malpais!"

He had guessed this already and now he merely smiled. Wherever a woman could lead, no man should hesitate to follow. But all he had heard of the crossing gave him a grisly feeling for what lay ahead. La Tour stood close enough to overhear. He protested abruptly and stood frowning.

"How do you know there'll be water in The Pits?"

A dismal black fear passed through Jean's eyes. This was not a decision she had reached by easy stages. Her glance crept over the crewmen until she found Alex, silently signaling him out. He let the horses stand beside the river and ran to her. "Alex," she said, "will there be water in The Pits? This is very important. It may mean death."

"I have never seen them completely dry. But I have never been there when it was as dry as this season."

"When were you to The Pits?" La Tour demanded.

"Not very many places he hasn't roamed," Jean smiled.

"It's not hard to find them," Alex answered. "Just follow the bones of Vogel Cash's cattle."

"You know the trail."

Jean's gaze lowered pensively. The Skull had been well named, and even though she had been too young to ride on that drive, she remembered her father when he returned completely spent. Supplying the California gold camps with beef had been a long chance but promising heavy profits. The trail followed the Skull to the Colorado, then crossed at Beale's ford and continued west across the desert. On that one occasion when Vogel drove across the badlands instead of following the Skull he had left the whitened bones of his beef behind.

Frank touched Jean gently. She said, "We'll cross the worst at night. We're not certain there will be water in The Pits. But we do know what's coming in back of us. My brother will give us even less mercy than the malpais."

"Can't take a wagon across that country."

She agreed. "I want you and Juan to escort the wagon by the river and leave a trail for Emmett to follow. If he doesn't overtake you by morning, we'll meet at Gobbler's Knob."

La Tour removed his spectacles swabbing them with his shirt. He wore the canteen strapped to his waist and now he sloshed a drop of whiskey onto the glass. Preoccupied with the gravity of his thoughts he wiped his tongue over each lens.

"You might make it if there's water in The Pits. If not—" he paused and shrugged. "We'll build a campfire at dusk. That ought to pull Emmett off your tracks."

Frank said, "You've got to remember, we're crossing the worst by night."

"You won't think so when you're on it," Doc said. "If you don't bring her safely through I'll ride on Emmett's trail. Emmett or Steve Norring — they'll be sorry their mothers didn't drown them!"

Jean laughed then, touching him gently on the shoulder. "Don't forget Doctor La Tour, you're escorting a keg of the finest possible precaution against chill when traveling the Signals. You'll be held to strict account for that St. Louis whiskey!"

Doc's nose was always the barometer of his moods. It took on the customary glow that spoke of his well being.

By three o'clock they reached the turnoff point where the horses were to be headed toward the malpais. Jean accepted La Tour's hand as he rode on, following the well rutted river trail. She held her glance on La Tour and Juan Lopez, escorting her wagon as long as they were within sight among the trees. Her voice sounded husky when she spoke.

"Frank, you mustn't think of the badlands. My father told me that was the only way he survived. Keep your mind on something else."

A Good Buy is just the Beginning

It's a great time to buy a Buick!

IN PRICE alone, today's Buick is an eye-brow-raising buy. The prices start right next to the low-priced cars, and trade-in allowances are tops.

But the good buy you'll get on a '56 Buick is just the beginning. Just the curtain raiser on the fun you should be having right now.

Why "wait till next year" when you can start enjoying the fun of a years-ahead transmission today? You've heard about Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—but have you ever tried it?

Do you have any idea how great getaway can be with just a gas-saving nudge of the throttle?

Ever had the thrill of giving her the gun and switching the pitch—like an airplane pilot on take-off? There's a new kind of zoomaway that gives you safer passing in a twinkling.

Think your present car has power? Can be—but come see what a mighty-muscled 322-cubic-inch Buick V8 can do. When you buy a '56 Buick, you find the "power pack" is built right in. Included in the regular price.

Are you up to date on how Buick's engineering whizzes have improved the ride?

They've practically abolished bad roads. Today you find a new kind of stability and handling along roads that really need renewing.

So why postpone the enjoyment of this sort of fun, and comfort, and sheer driving delight?

The big buys are on right now. Yet for months and months to come, you'll still be driving the newest Buick of them all — the best Buick yet.

And there's a funny twist that works to your advantage. These great new Buicks may have made your present car way out of date—but the old bus is still worth plenty...

If you act now.

So come in and see what a really fine allowance we can give you on trade-in. See how low Buick prices start.

When you see how easy it is to own a Buick, you can begin to enjoy 1956 driving at its best. There's never been anything like the best Buick yet.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

U. S. Willing for Limitations on Nuclear Blasts

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States said today it would agree to limitations on test explosions of nuclear weapons if a "safeguarded" program to that end could be agreed on by all countries.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the United Nations Disarmament Commission that properly conducted nuclear tests are not a hazard to human health and safety.

He said that in the absence of an agreement for proper safeguards, the continuation of experimental explosions "is essential for our security and that of the free world."

Wadsworth called for an "effort of statecraft" to limiting atomic and hydrogen weapons themselves and said:

"God speed the day when this may happen. To this end we dedicate ourselves."

Wadsworth sat in on the commission's discussion in place of U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who was attending a Cabinet meeting in Washington.

Washington dispatches said Harold Stassen, presidential aide on disarmament problems, might disclose this afternoon a "brand new" American arms reduction program, which might include a provision for banning nuclear weapons.

U. N. observers meanwhile doubted the Western powers would go along with limitations on conventional armed forces. Russia agreed Thursday in a gimmick to accept acceptance.

Sullivan Signs Elvis Presley for Three Appearances on Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Sullivan, fighting to keep his show on Sunday night TV, wooed and won Elvis Presley today.

Sullivan, currently engaged in a cross-channel rating battle with NBC-TV's Steve Allen, signed Presley for three appearances on his CBS-TV variety show at a reported price of $50,000.

Presley, a rock and roll singer who ranks as the hottest and most controversial property in the music business, will make his bow on the show on Sept. 9. There will be about an eight week spacing between his subsequent appearances.

Who's Sorry Now

DUNDEE, Scotland (AP) — Ronald James, 27, took five days to hitch-hike the 450 miles from his London home to answer a summons to appear in court here. When he reached court, James was told, "Sorry, your case has been postponed until October."

Composer Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Veteran song writer Robert L. (Bob) Carleton, famed composer of such top Dixieland jazz tunes as "Jamboree," died Thursday night at St. Joseph Hospital in nearby Burbank after undergoing an exploratory operation. He was 60.

He leaves his widow, Mary Louise and three children.

Joke Backfires, Youth Strangles

OBLONG, Ill. (AP) — A joke backfired on a farm youth and caused his death by strangulation, Crawford County authorities said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lackey found their son, James, 16, dead at their home Thursday. A makeshift noose of clothesline was around his neck.

Authorities believed Lackey put the noose around his neck to play a joke on his parents. He apparently slipped on a rug and fell against a doorway. He struck his head, losing consciousness, and then strangled.

Service Chiefs Protest Proposal By Adm. Radford

NEW YORK (AP) — The chiefs of the three armed services have joined in vigorous protest against a proposal by Adm. Arthur W. Radford to reduce the armed forces by some 800,000 men, the New York Times said today.

Times correspondent Anthony Leviero said one reported result of the revolt against Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is that work on the joint strategic objectives plan has been postponed until after the presidential election.

The chiefs were said to have objected to Radford's proposal to reduce the armed forces by some 800,000 men by 1960 on the grounds that it would shivel up U. S. armed force contribution to the defense of Europe, the Times said in a dispatch from Washington.

Radford was reported to have made a counter-proposal to estimates of force levels submitted by the chiefs because he was dissatisfied, the newspaper said.

In Washington, Defense Department spokesman C. Herschel Schooley was asked about the reported 800,000-man cut proposal. He said "we don't know of any such proposal."

Schooley pointed out that Carter L. Burgess, assistant defense secretary for manpower, told Congress last week that the department now plans to continue the present military manpower strength in its fiscal 1958 budget which will go to Congress in January.

Steel Negotiators Meet, Recess Talks Until Monday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top negotiators for the steel industry and the United Steelworkers met for 2½ hours today in another try at reaching a peace formula for ending the 13-day strike of 650,000 basic steel workers.

Both sides agreed to meet again Monday.

Immediately after the joint conference recessed shortly before 11 a. m. CST, the negotiators for the industry's "big three" — U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic — went into a huddle with federal mediators.

USW President David J. McDonald went into a closed door conference with his union aides.

McDonald said as he emerged from the joint talks that "There is absolutely no change in the situation."

Spares No Cost

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Groucho Marx says he expects soon to have the most lavish bathtub since the days of ancient Rome, all because his wife, Eden, wants a sunken circular bathtub. "I couldn't put one in our hold house without tearing down most of the joint, so we're building a new place which probably will run $200,000," he said.

That'll Stop 'Em

CHICAGO (AP) — Albert B. Moss, 35, who charged his wife's parents with breaking up his marriage because he "was not wealthy enough" has now moved to improve his financial condition. He has sued the parents, Dr. and Mrs. Albert L. Lash, for $750,000 on a charge they stole the affections of their daughter, Judith, 28, now estranged from Moss.

Ike and Dulles Tackle Foreign Policy Problems

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower tackled a series of foreign policy problems today in a conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon had planned to report to Mr. Eisenhower on his recent Far Eastern tour. But the meeting was cancelled at the last minute when he was advised a storm here ruled out flying.

Dulles and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams flew here before the storm, landing at the Gettysburg airport at 11 a. m. in a heavy rain.

At an impromptu news conference at the airport, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Nixon would see the President Saturday. Nixon has just returned from an 11-day, 27,000-mile trip to the Far East.

Hagerty said Dulles was discussing "entirely State Department business" with the President and would have no comment upon leaving Gettysburg.

It was announced at Gettysburg Thursday that Mr. Eisenhower will be returning to the White House very soon for the first time since his June 8 illness. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President plans "to return early next week—Monday or Tuesday."

Marilyn, Hubby Leave for London

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilyn Monroe and her new husband, Arthur Miller, fly to London today for a European honeymoon and for the actress' appearance in her newest film, "The Sleeping Prince."

The couple depart at 2 p. m. CST. They will arrive in London Saturday morning.

Approve Gold Medals for Surviving Civil War Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Thursday passed and sent to President Eisenhower legislation authorizing the presentation of gold medals to the four surviving veterans of the Civil War.

The bill directs the Treasury Department to strike the gold medals at an estimated total cost of $3,500. The medals would be presented to the veterans by the President or a person designated by him.

Each of the four known surviving veterans now is over 100 years old. One of them, Albert Woolson, Duluth, Minn., fought with the Union forces. The other three—William A. Lundy, Laurel Hill, Fla.; John Salling, Slant, Va.; and Walter W. Williams, Franklin, Tex.—served with the Confederate Army.

Lightning Hits National Guard Demonstration

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) — Lightning struck during an Illinois National Guard demonstration and injured one person Thursday.

A special anti-aircraft firework demonstration was being conducted by the 33rd Infantry Division for visitors, which included a group of Illinois mayors.

A storm struck and a bolt of lightning hit a field switchboard. The operator was injured slightly. Torrential rains which accompanied the storm almost put a halt to operations at the camp for the day.

Gov. William G. Stratton arrived at the camp Thursday night, with Mrs. Stratton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sommerfield, Rockford.

Stratton will review the division Saturday morning. A reception for the Strattons will follow the parade and then the governor and his wife will fly back to Springfield, Ill.

Observes Friday, 13th, By Birth of 13th Child

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Edward W. Maples today observed Friday the 13th by giving birth to her 13th child.

A daughter was born to Mrs. Maples, wife of a plumber, at 5:45 a. m. at the Independence Hospital. The 43-year-old mother said her 10 other daughters and 2 sons all were born at home.

Authorities said the children apparently wandered into the pond and drowned.

Soviets Propose New Atoms-for-Peace Group

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed today a European-wide atoms-for-peace organization which also would include the United States.

The proposal, in effect, would pool the atomic resources of East and West for peaceful ends.

At present, a six-nation Western European atomic pool called Euratom is in process of formation with France, West Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries as members. The Soviet and 10 other Communist East European and Asian countries have just established a "unified center of atomic research."

The new Soviet proposal suggested that the United States and all European governments now call a conference to discuss the peaceful uses of atomic energy on a Europe-wide basis.

The suggestion was contained in notes delivered to the embassies of the nations represented here, but it did not specify any time or place for such a conference.

The first suggestion for the pooling of atomic energy resources for peaceful ends was made by President Eisenhower in a speech to the United Nations General Assembly in New York Dec. 8, 1953. At that time, he urged the major powers to cooperate in this development and proposed donations of nuclear materials to an international pool. Since then, however, East and West have gone their separate ways in this project as they have in other aspects of the cold war.

Marine Sergeant Goes On Trial Next Week for Tragedy in Boot Training

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—National attention will focus next week on this famed U. S. Marine Corps boot training camp where a 31-year-old sergeant—and, according to its commandant, the entire Marine Corps—will be on trial for "the tragedy of Ribbon Creek."

Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, the junior drill instructor who marched a platoon of recruits into a marshy tidal creek as a disciplinary measure, goes to trial by general court martial Monday.

Six of the recruits were drowned in a general panic as the platoon veered into deep water on the moonless, windy night of last April 8. McKeon, a native of Worcester, Mass., and a veteran of eight years in the Marines, is charged with manslaughter. If convicted, he could get a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison and dishonorable discharge.

Defending him will be a staff of four, headed by Emilie Zola Berman, who is generally recognized to be one of the best trial attorneys in New York. Berman, who is serving without fee, was selected by a committee organized by New York Supreme Court

Churchman is More Surprised at Virtue in World Than Vice

LONDON (AP)—A prominent Methodist churchman says he is more surprised by the amount of virtue remaining in the world than he is by the increasing amount of vice.

Considering the sexual invitations and stimulations that leer at young people from most public advertisements and from practically all the cheaper periodicals and magazines, it is virtue and not vice that surprises me," Dr. Donald Soper wrote in the weekly Tribune.

He is charged with violating regulations by possessing and using an alcoholic beverage (vodka) in a barracks housing single enlisted men; with bringing discredit by drinking in the presence of a recruit; with maltreatment by leading the platoon without authority and for punishment into the water; and with killing six recruits by negligence and while oppressing the entire platoon.

Old Jails

By John W. Allen
Southern Illinois University

Jails held high priority on the building programs of early Illinois counties. In numerous instances they were built even before the court-houses.

A room to serve the occasional needs of the small staff of county officials and to house the new county's meager records was often found "at the residence of" some citizen. There were no places available, however, to serve as ready-made jails. Since buildings adaptable to use for jails were not available, it was necessary to erect them.

In almost all cases these buildings were small, separate structures made of logs. They obviously were intended for security and not for comfort or convenience. No record has been found for heating one of these jails. They were not meant for extended stays of prisoners. Rather, they were primarily to keep culprits secure until trial had been held and those adjudged guilty could receive "lashes on the bare back well laid on" or could spend the hours prescribed in the county pillory or stocks.

Early Specifications

A number of specifications for early jails are found among the records of older counties. Those for the jail erected at Brownsville, county seat of Jackson county, in 1825 very well illustrate the manner in which they were built.

On December 6, 1824 the County Commissioners Court of Jackson County voted to build a new jail to replace the one erected there when the county was formed in 1816. They located the new two-story jail on the northeast corner of Lot 75, purchased from Jess Griggs for $4, in the promising village of Brownsville. This one may be considered as typical of the jails of that time, perhaps being better built than the average.

The Brownsville prison had a "foundation laid of rock 17 feet and two inches square on the outside and three feet and six inches thick . . . said foundation to extend 18 inches into the ground and one foot above." It had a "floor laid thereon of hewn white oak timbers one foot square to extend over the whole of said foundation except 13 inches on each said with a floor of white oak planks two inches thick well spiked down to be laid thereon." The first floor was thus 14 inches thick.

Layer of Walls

The lower story had a heavy outside wall that was really three walls. The inner layer of this wall was "12 feet square in the clear" and was made of "hewn white oak timbers 10 inches thick well dovetailed at the corners." The next or middle layer was of "upright timbers six inches thick . . . well squared . . . with bottoms standing on the rock foundation." The third or outer layer was a wall of "brick and lime 13 inches thick." The total thickness of the walls of the lower story was thus 29 inches.

The next floor which also served as the floor of the second story was "of hewn white oak timbers 12 inches square to extend over the timbers of the lower floor to the brick walls and to be notched down to the timbers of the lower story with a half dovetail and a flooring of inch oak planks well laid thereon." The ceiling height of both the lower and upper rooms was "seven feet in the clear."

There was one doorway located on the south side of the lower room. It was "five feet and a half high and two feet four inches in the clear." The frame of this door, six inches thick, was "well pinned to the timbers and walls with a six quarter (one and one-half inch) auger." Two doors were hung at this doorway, "one door to open inward and one door to open outward." They were made of "two inch oak planks well lined with one inch oak planks and spiked full with iron spikes." Both doors were "well secured with bolts, iron hinges and locks."

The specifications as first written said "there shall be in the lower story a window 12 inches square made by cutting half through two logs and space left in the outer brick wall." This window was to have four one inch iron bars across it "let into the timbers five inches at each end." A later order added another "window of the same size as the one in the old order."

Long Since Vanished

The second story was much like the first one except for the omission of the center layer of the walls. Its ceiling like the floors of the first and second stories was "laid of squared white oak timbers 12 inches square . . . well pinned down." The upper room had two windows 12 by 12 inches. Its doorway, "six feet high and two feet two inches in the clear" was "finished in the same manner as the lower door." It was reached by "a flight of stairs from the ground to a platform on a line with the second floor."

The contract for the erection of this building was awarded to David Husbard. For $1,000 he agreed to "complete said building in a strong and workmanlike manner and suitable for a jail." It was received by the county on September 29, 1825.

Despite the sturdiness with which it was built, this jail has long since vanished along with all the other buildings of the village. A few stones in the ground mark the site on which it stood. When we last visited the site, tall weeds and ground hogs were in control.

Senate Passes Bill To Assist Low-Income Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed legislation Thursday night expanding the government's loan authority to assist low-income and marginal farmers.

The bill, requested by the administration as part of its program for small farmers, now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate amendments.

The measure would permit the farmers home administration for the first time to make loans or insure loans for part-time or low-income farmers. It also would permit the agency to make loans to refinance existing farmer debts. The maximum single loan would be increased from the present $7,000 to $10,000. The total of loans to any one person would be increased from the present $15,000 to $20,000.

Communist Workers Protest Speed-Up

BERLIN (AP) — Communist sources said today that workers throughout the Soviet Zone have rebelled against an industrial speed-up that would cut their wages.

Radio Budapest said similar protests against a speed-up took place in Hungary's Matyas Rokosi steel works.

Buhl Blanks Dodgers, 2-0; Pirates Sweep Two from Cubs; Cardinals Beat Giants

By United Press
Bob Buhl, a guy with the "Indian sign" on Brooklyn, fixed things today so that the Milwaukee Braves were giving Cincinnati the high sign that they're about ready to take over first place again in the National League.

Buhl took care of matters this way:
He defeated the Dodgers for the fifth straight time Thursday night, 2-0, scattering six hits and pitching the Braves to within four percentage points of the pace-setting Redlegs, who bowed to the Phillies, 7-4.

Buhl's fine performance over the Dodgers earned him his 10th victory of the campaign just before a thunderstorm washed out what was scheduled to be the second game of a two-night doubleheader. Cut Redlegs' Lead

Big Joe Adcock got the Braves started with his 13th home run in the fourth inning off Roger Craig—his fifth off Dodger pitching—and Milwaukee added an insurance run in the fifth when Eddie Mathews singled home Danny O'Connell.

Milwaukee's victory cut a full game off Cincinnati's lead, the Redlegs falling victim to a five-run rally by the Phillies in the ninth inning. Trailing Art Fowler 3-2 until the ninth, the Phils fashioned their outburst with a two-run double by Marv Blaylock and a two-run single by Elmer Valo. Southpaw Harvey Haddix, nicknamed for a two-run homer by Ed Bailey in the second inning, was credited with his seventh triumph.

Pittsburgh moved into fourth place by sweeping a doubleheader from Chicago, 2-1 and 5-4. Ronnie Kline posted his eighth victory in the opener as Bill Virdon homered for one run and Dale Long and Jack Shepard each doubled for the other. Ernie Banks' 22nd home run accounted for the Cubs' lone run. Long's first home run in more than a month broke a 4-all tie in the eighth inning of the nightcap and gained reliever Elroy Face his seventh triumph. Long also tripled with the bases full off loser Sam Jones in the third inning to drive in four runs in the finale.

Al Dark and Don Liddle, two ex-Giants, teamed up to lead the Cardinals to a 5-3 decision over New York. Dark's sacrifice fly with the bases full in the seventh drove in the winning run while Liddle, who relieved starter Tom Poholsky, was credited with the victory. Stan Musial, Hank Thompson and Willie Mays each hit homers.

Yanks Extend Lead

In the American League, the Yankees lengthened their lead to 7 1/2 games—largest margin of the year—in beating the Indians, 9-5, while the Red Sox defeated the second-place White Sox, 3-1.

Hank Bauer, who learned he was the father of an eight-pound, nine-ounce boy shortly after the game, delivered a pinch homer with the bases full, the first grand slam wallop of his career, to help Johnny Kucks nail down his 12th victory. Bauer's blow came off reliever Don Mossi and offset a three-run homer by Al Smith in the fourth.

Jim Piersall's two-run homer in the ninth inning gave the Red Sox their victory over the White Sox. Piersall's blow came off Jack Harshman, who had homered himself in the eighth to put Chicago ahead. Boston tied the score in the bottom of the eighth on Norm Zauchin's single and Billy Goodman's double. Leo Kiely was the winner in relief of Frank Sullivan.

Tigers Down Senators
Billy Hoelt pitched Detroit to a 4-2 victory over Washington with a neat four-hit effort. The Tigers hopped on loser Bob Wiesler for two runs in the first inning and then clinched matters with two more runs in the fourth. Jim Lemon homered for Washington.

Left hander Bill Wight of Baltimore turned in his first shutout of the year in blanking Kansas City, 4-0. Bob Nieman contributed a three-run homer off Art Ditmar for the Orioles, who snapped a four-game losing streak and took their 10th game in 12 meetings with the Athletics this season.

THE JACKPOT

To Select New Owner of Tigers Next Monday

DETROIT — The new owner of the Detroit Tigers will be selected next Monday by the club's board of directors, but the decision is merely a formality.

Three of the Tigers' six directors—President Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, Secretary and Business Manager Harry Sisson and Treasurer Charles T. Fisher Jr.—made up an executive committee which was handed the task of screening eight multi-million-dollar bids and recommending which one should be accepted.

They made their decision Thursday, and since they comprise half of the director membership, their recommendation is expected to be approved by the board without a hitch.

Even before the committee met to single out which bid it felt should be accepted, the field had been pared down from eight syndicates to four.

Those four are headed by Bill Veeck, the former executive of the Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns; Toronto sportsman Jack Kent Cooke; Hollywood movie producer Robert Goldstein and Fred Knorr, Dearborn, and John Fetzner, Kalamazoo, Michigan broadcasting industry owners.

They were the top bidders, all offering $5 million or more for the franchise of the Tigers and Briggs Stadium.

Raleigh, Pankey, Crab Orchard Win Kiwanis Tilts

By David Nelson

Raleigh pounded the Reds, 27-4; Pankey's Bakery slaughtered Gibbons, 21-6, and Crab Orchard downed VFW, 10-4, in Kiwanis league baseball games played Thursday.

C. Woolard had six hits in as many trips to the plate to lead his team's 28-hit attack in beating the Reds, 27-4. S. Taylor pitched for Raleigh, giving up four runs on four hits and four free passes. Also having a perfect day for Raleigh were D. Phelps with five for five, and K. Farmer with four for four. Bowers took the loss.

Gibbons and Owens gave up six runs on six scattered hits, two errors and five bases on balls, while striking out 15 as Pankey's defeated Gibbons, 21-6. Trammel led the winners' 11-hit attack with three in four times at bat, and Potter and Owens picked up a couple of safe blows. Flemming was the losing pitcher.

Mocaby allowed only four tallies on five safeties and two bases on balls as Crab Orchard downed VFW, 10-4. Biggs, Roper and Hancock, VFW pitchers, gave up only four base hits, but wildness was their downfall as they walked six while hitting three batters. Biggs led the losers at the plate with a home run and two singles and Schram had two safeties for the winners.

Lightburn, Zulueta Meet Tonight In TV-Radio Bout

NEW YORK — Lightweight contender Ludwig Lightburn of British Honduras is delighted to be substituting on a Friday, the 13th, for the second time this year in tonight's TV-radio 10-rounder with veteran Orlando Zulueta at Madison Square Garden.

(The bout will be telecast at 8 p. m. by station WSLI.)
"Friday, the 13th, was lucky for me in January when I substituted for Jimmy Carter at San Francisco and beat Joey Lopes, who is a very fine fighter," Lightburn explained today. "So, tonight I should be lucky too."

It's somewhat different this time, however; for both Lightburn and Zulueta are substituting for an originally scheduled match between middleweights Rocky Castellani and Joey Giambra. A hand injury in training caused Giambra to ask for a postponement to Aug. 3.

Nevertheless, 22-year-old Lightburn is a lucky 13-5 favorite over 26-year-old Zulueta because of his speed, stamina and harder punch.

Legion to Play At Nashville Sunday

The Harrisburg Legion baseball team is slated to travel to Nashville, Tenn., Sunday where they will play the Red Caps of that city in the rubber game of a three game series. The two clubs split a pair of lopsided games here in June when the locals downed the visitors 9 to 3 in an arc light contest only to fall before the Red Caps 13 to 0 in a Sunday day fracas.

Legion players are asked to meet at the town park diamond Sunday morning at 6:30 prepared to leave for the trip to Nashville.

A reminder is given local players of the practice session scheduled for Saturday at the town park diamond, time 5 p. m., and all those who can possibly make it are asked to check in for some fielding and hitting.

Gov't Must Act if Steel Strike is Prolonged: Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks said today that if the steel strike "goes on long enough" the government will "have to do something."

He added that this does not mean he is advocating use of the injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley law or any other specific steps for the government to intervene in the strike.

At a news conference Weeks said he did not think the steel strike had been going on long enough to affect the economy much. "There has been some unemployment, particularly on the railroads," he said, but the "impact has been hardly noticeable."
